Dear "Cousin",

From informal correspondence to an organized newsletter is a big step. Important too! ... especially for us as members of the Teeple family. So, I am writing to invite you to join in this new venture - to help you get to know your family roots a little bit better.

Many of us have been writing among ourselves for several years now, asking questions, sharing information or interesting items, and generally giving a lot of support. Recently, we became convinced that the newsletter method could offer the best form of help for the largest number of "Teeple chasers" - and so this invitation was prepared. And, frankly, we are really excited by the prospect of bringing so many of us together this way.

So, please fill out the form that comes with this letter, help us out a little bit financially, and join with us in a wonderful adventure of discovery - find out more about your family history and help others find out about theirs.!

see you in March!
Anne

here's how you can profit by joining the newsletter

queries:

You may be able to track down your "lost sheep" by placing your request in the queries column.

lineage charts:

You may find that your family links up with another branch of the family tree regional help:

Members who have a wide knowledge of an area may offer to help others in their own region - and those who could use the help will know where to turn.

personal accounts:

Family stories contributed by newsletter members will broaden your sense of what "family" means to you

You may have a small piece of information - maybe only a sentence or two - which you would like to share with other members.

Members may wish to submit larger articles - a profile of a family or one member of a family - a research technique that works - a search that paid off - a source of information and how to tap it these may give you just the incentive to keep on digging.
